

Marina Pinto Miller is an author, illustrator, and fine artist, with a lifelong disability. Her new book, written in rhyme and illustrated in a graphic novel style, is soon to be published by Prometea Press in hardcover and e-book formats.

A True Story: The Beloved Equation tells a true-to-life tale of how two people, set out to find love and against all the odds, succeeded, to the astonishment of everyone around them. The story of their journey, and the creative art, music, pain, poetry, and mathematics behind it all, will appeal to readers of lighthearted romance, people who love beautiful books and quirky stories with a touch of magic, and anyone who has had all too real struggles with trauma, bullying and social rejection, simply because of who they are. The message is simple and empowering, and can be applied to any situation in life, with a principle and process laid out at the end of the book.

Find out more:

Website: www.marinapintomiller.com

Book: <https://www.marinapintomiller.com/tbe>

LinkedIn: <https://www.linkedin.com/in/marinapintomiller/>

Publisher: Prometea Press

ISBN 978-1-7771351-5-7 (hardcover)

Publication date: November 9, 2022 - 41 pages

Early review: "Definitely a must-have for your library!"

Where to buy:

Kindle edition - pre-order now from Amazon!

Hardcover edition – Now available for order from Ingram Sparks (book distributors, bookstores and libraries only)

Softcover edition – Soon to be available for purchase on Amazon

For further communication, please contact Marina at:

marinapintomiller.com/contact